

Under the Working Time Regulations 1998, you are not permitted to work more than an average of 48 hours per week unless you opt out. If you opt, you will be permitted to work more than 48 hours per week but are not under any obligation to do so. If you choose to opt out, you may withdraw at any time by giving us one month's notice in writing.