

FABIOLA HERNANDEZ

Fabiola started her legal career in 2018, as a law student at the Universidad Autónoma de Honduras. As part of her degree, she has obtained real practical experience across various legal disciplines.

Prior to joining Mayora IP in 2023, Fabiola worked in a client-facing role for a tech and data-powered US multinational in the customer experience (CX) sphere; at MIP she brings together her international and customer-focused outlook as well as her academic and practical legal experience, working with global brands across all areas of intellectual property, both contentious and non-contentious.

Fabiola forms part of MIP's Honduras office team but is crucial to the firm's offering in the Northern Triangle countries and beyond, combining effective legal case management with expertise in the practice's advanced IP management systems to provide clients with an integrated brand protection and enforcement service throughout the entire region.
