TABLE GAMES MONEY PADDLE PLUNGER

In the context of casino table games, a "casino table games money paddle plunger" refers to the tool used by casino employees to collect and move paper money across the gaming table. Here's a breakdown of its characteristics:

Appearance:

Usually made of acrylic or clear plastic for transparency.

Paddle-shaped with a flat surface for pushing money.

May have a rubberized edge to prevent scratching the table or damaging bills.

Might have a long handle for reaching across the table easily.

Function:

Gently pushes paper money (bills) collected from winning bets towards the dealer or into a drop box (money slot) embedded in the table.

Improves efficiency and hygiene compared to handling bills directly.

Minimizes the risk of accidental tipping of the chips or bills on the table.

Variations:

Some may have built-in bill slots for convenient collection and counting.

Others may have electronic components for automated tracking or security purposes.

Additional Information:

These tools are not usually available for purchase by the general public as they are considered casino equipment.

Their specific design and features may vary depending on the casino and manufacturer.

Alternative Names:

Money pusher

Bill pusher

Money paddle

Chip pusher (although mainly used for money, not chips)
