Being able to fellowship with many friends and family during our furlough

God is at work in Thailand.

God continues to bless the ministry He has given us.

Prayer

This transition will go smooth with minimal impact on the ministry

The My Hope project our staff is helping with in Thailand will see many Thais come to know Jesus

The office will not have any major problems while we are on furlough.

With life comes change; it is inevitable. As one who has faithfully supported us through your prayers, friendship, and giving, we wanted to share with you some very important and exciting changes that we are embarking on.

First, we are launching a new ministry, CrossTies Asia, in affiliation with the Crosswinds Foundation. We will still be serving in Thailand and continuing the work God has given us, but we believe this new association will allow us to have a broader area of ministry and a greater impact in SE Asia. In the next few weeks we will be sending you our first CrossTies Asia prayer letter to share with you the vision God has given us. Please be looking for this letter.

Second, we have become members of the International Fellowship of Alliance Professionals (IFAP), an agency of the Christian and Missionary Alliance (C&MA). This is a significant association, not only because it further connects us to the work begun by Dwight's parents in Thailand 40+ years ago, but it also gives us an even greater presence with Thai pastors. On a personal level, it is a great blessing as our membership in IFAP will also provide for our health insurance.

Finally, we would like to extend our appreciation to MAF for giving us the opportunity to start our ministry in Thailand. It is through MAF that God gave us the vision and courage to embark on this adventure. Even though we will no longer be part of MAF, we will remain in partnership with them on many ministry projects.
