The Wat Nokor Bachey's team in action.

RUSTIC PATHWAYS FOUNDATION

From 20th to 24th of September, Rustic Pathways came with a students group from the Brisbane Grammar School and St Paul's Grammar School. During 4 days, they build up houses (1 in Tbong Khmom, 1 in Kampong Roling and 1 next to Wat Nokor Bachey) and made some construction in our Apsara and Rice Field Kids Village centers. This hard work is such a good gift for our beneficiaries, supporting and giving them an opportunity to live with decent conditions.

BSDA is very thankful to all of you guys, the students, the teachers and all the Rustic Pathways staff. Cambodia is dear to your heart and, thanks to your help, is becoming better year after year.

GREEDY PLEASURE

KHMER CHICKEN CURRY FROM SMILE RESTAURANT

Cooking time: 20 minutes.

This recipe could easily be adapted to vegetarian.

The Curry paste:

- 1 piece of ginger
- 2 pieces of Turmeric root
- 2 garlic cloves
- 1 piece of lemongrass
- 4 shallots
- 2 kaffir lime leaves

Peel the garlic, the ginger, roughly cut all the ingredients and throw them in a food processor. If you don't have it, try a mortar and pestle or a blender (you'll need to add a little extra oil or lime juice). Wizz it up until everything is smooth. You now have your very own curry paste!

"Just get that delicious limey & lemongrassy smell!"

Ingredients:

- 100g chicken breasts.
- 5 table spoons of coconut milk.
- 1/2 carrot.
- 1/2 sweet potato.
- 1/2 eggplant.
- 1/2 yam.
- 1 long bean.
- 1/2 onion.
- 1/2 table spoon of sugar.
- A pinch of salt.

Cut the chicken and vegetables and put them aside. Fry your curry paste for 3-4 minutes, until it smells aromatic. Add the coconut milk and let it lightly simmer, put the Prahok, then the sugar, sweet potato, carrot, onion, yam, eggplant and long bean. Let it cook for around 10 minutes. Then put the chicken and a bit of water to moisten the ingredients and let it smoothly simmer until the vegetables and chicken are ready.
