dermalogica

Dear Dermalogica Partners,

We truly value you as an important partner and appreciate the trust and loyalty you've shown in working with us. We're writing today to provide an important update regarding our pricing structure.

As global economic conditions continue to evolve, we are facing sustained cost pressures driven by rising raw material and manufacturing expenses, as well as the impact of increased tariffs on certain imported goods. While Dermalogica products are proudly made in the United States, some essential components used in our production process are sourced internationally and are subject to elevated tariffs.

While we are absorbing the majority of these increased costs to maintain Dermalogica's high standards and ensure long-term sustainability, we will need to implement a modest price adjustment across our retail and professional product ranges, effective June 1, 2025.

We are providing with this advance notice to give you ample time to plan accordingly whether that involves updating your own pricing structures or placing any necessary orders at the current rates prior to the effective date.

At Dermalogica, we remain dedicated to supporting your business and delivering the professional-grade skincare solutions that you and your clients trust. Thank you for your continued partnership and understanding.

Warm Regards, Tim Bunch General Manager, North America Dermalogica
