

FOOD & WINE

The 13 Best Fruit Liqueurs

From limoncello to grapefruit to lychee, these are the best bottles for springtime sipping.

By Kate Dingwall

Bellissimo Limoncello

Food & Wine / Bellissimo Chicago

Beverage expert and sommelier Fabrizio Di Rienzo (LAGO Lake Zurich, Fabio Viviani Hospitality) loves fruit liqueurs, but they need to be authentic and high quality. “A perfect example is the limoncello and orangello from Bellissimo, a Midwestern distillery that’s close to two of our restaurants,” he says.

“What makes this bottle stand out is it’s crafted using real fruit, without any added coloring,” Di Rienzo says. “While their color may be lighter compared to more industrially produced competitors, the flavor is truly exceptional. You can taste the difference with every sip. I enjoy serving limoncello and orangello on their own as after-dinner digestifs because they round out a meal beautifully.”