

Giostra by Fabio Viviani To Open October 14th In The Arboretum Of South Barrington

The menu at Giostra will center around classic Italian dishes, lovingly crafted from recipes passed down through generations

Fabio Viviani Hospitality announced that Giostra by Fabio Viviani will officially open its doors in The Arboretum of South Barrington on October 14th. Reservations are currently live and can be made via SevenRooms.

Named for the magical old carousel that anchors the Piazza della Repubblica in Fabio's hometown of Florence, Italy, Giostra will transport guests to a charming slice of Old Florence. The new restaurant promises an authentic Italian dining experience that blends the rich culinary traditions of Fabio's childhood with fresh, locally sourced ingredients.

Widely known for regular national TV appearances on Bravo and the Food Network as well as shows like Good Morning America, Fabio is not just a name at Giostra; he is a neighbor (Fabio and his family reside in South Barrington.) The intimate connection he has with the local community adds a very special and personal touch to the dining experience.

The menu at Giostra will center around classic Italian dishes, crafted from recipes passed down through generations, including those of Fabio's mother and grandmother. Guests can look forward to savoring homemade pastas, seafood, steaks and more. Giostra's food menu will be complemented by one of the most extensive and well-rounded Italian wine lists in Chicagoland, created by Fabrizio Di Rienzo.
